Major Activities Affecting Case Closing:

October 15, 2018 The Final Report was prepared, however there is a claim objection that Scott Mandelup is handling.

September 25, 2018 Scott is objecting to a claim.

July 18, 2018 The signed Order was sent to Mark Meinberg's firm letting them know that they are retained.

June 5, 2018 Sale took place on the real estate.

January 5, 2018 693 owns a parcel of real estate located at 693 Peninsula Blvd, Hempstead NY 11550. The Debtor's President Rattan Ramchandani testified that it may only be used for an automobile oil and lubrication business. The shareholders are dr. Deepica Ramchandani 25% (President's wife) Kavita Sood and Sangeetha Ramchandani 12% each (daughters of Deepica and Rattan)

JT Advaney 25%

Vaneeta Sanji and Jethanand, 25% beneficiaries of the Advancy Trust created under the Will of KT Advaney

Apparently the Ramchandani and Advaney families are also owners of the contiguous parcel of real estate on which they previously operated a car wash and which car wash they recently sold to a third party.

The 1st meeting of creditors was attended by Arkash advaney and Manav Advaney who apparently are nephews of the dec3ednet KT Advaney.

While the property was originally operated as retain aut lubrication business, the oil and lubrication business has not been operating for at least 4 years.

On October 31, 2013, a contract was entered into to sell said real property for the price of $1,325,000. However this transaction never closed because the debtors did not have a C of O to use the property.

The issue which makes the property unmarketable in its current condition is that while there is a means of ingress to the premises, after the lubrication work is completed on a customer vehicle, the only means of egress is to trespass on the contiguous property to depart the premises. The contiguous property owners, the same Ramchandani and Advaney family members refuse to grant an easement under any conditions notwithstanding that it would be in their respective best interests to do so. Apparently there is a companion litigation pending in India which has caused hard feelings between the families. Thus we are left with a situation where absent some legal theory or other strategy, we will not obtain an easement as against the contiguous property. One area to look into on this issue is the fact that the two properties were basically operated together at a prior point in time and this might give rise to an easement by prescription or easement by necessity, or easement under an alternative theory.
